

LOCATION: Mirwyn Hundred,
Daenshire,
Kingdom of Kandy

STATUS: Manorial fief
Liege: Sheriff of Daen

GOVERNMENT: Sir Arino of Delourne

POPULATION: 169 persons (31 households)

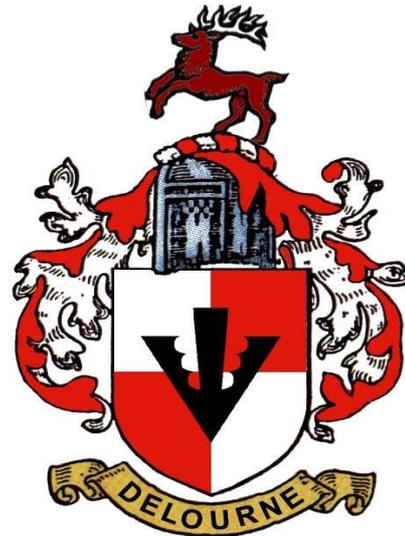

History

On the opposite, southern bank of River Eryn, the Aleathian Queen Elana founded Edino as part of the kingdom's defenses against the expanding Corani Empire.

The two decades following the assimilation of Aleathia into the Corani Empire in 453 TR saw a huge expansion in the Empire. Large areas of forest were cleared and several new settlements were built on the northern bank of the River Eryn. Among these was Gemela, which was founded in 472 when Adric of Gemel was granted permission to build a small manor. The expansion continued despite Emperor Syluds decision to restrict military spending. A decision which led to the loss of much of the north western part of the empire, but which had little effect on the increasingly prosperous Eryn Valley.

When Emperor Mindrithar took control in 491TR he attempted to reverse the decline of the Empire. He chose not to try to recapture many of the more remote outposts of the Empire, but instead concentrated on the lands south of Coranan. In 493 TR he had Caer Moleryn built, followed four years later by Caer Ibonost. This was the last great castle building era of the Corani Empire. By 500 TR Mineous Trail between Dyrisa and Moleryn, known as the King's Way, had been blazed and a number of settlements were being built in the area from the Douwa Downs south to the Eryn River.

In 508 TR it was decided to build a second bridge over the Eryn at Edino; and to connect Edino to Moleryn via a new Imperial road. The bridge was begun in 510 TR and completed in 512 TR. Upon completion of the bridge the paved road north from Gemela towards the other settlements was begun. The bridge consisted of two low stone piers, one on each of the two banks of the river and five bridge piers within the river. The bridge deck was wholly of wood and the bridge itself was only 15 feet above the water level, insufficient to allow for navigation. This was a source of great annoyance to the merchants in Dyrisa, as it restricted trade to that settlement. The Dyrisans appealed to the Emperor for either: the bridge to be removed, or, for a high arched stone bridge to be provided. Unfortunately, these request coincided with the death of Mindrithar. Emperor Korad did nothing to resolve the situation, other than to halt the Imperial funding for the Edino-Moleryn road. This had the result that traffic over the bridge was minimal and therefore income from tolls was low.

Over the years the bridge, referred to locally as 'Mindrithars Folly' fell into disrepair. A little over 60 years after its completion, after the collapse of the Empire, the last Corani Governor of Edino, Eladas of Kand was summoned to Dyrisa to face charges of heresy and treason. His son, Andasin, and his followers used the bridge to escape from the Theocrats. Andasin burned the bridge behind him, to prevent pursuit. This action prevented any significant pursuit from Edino and resulted on the Theo-crats appointed to Edino having to return to Dyrisa to cross the Eryn in pursuit. The time delay allowed Andasin and his followers to disappear into the Mimean Hills.

Today, the five masoned bridge piers are the last visible remains of the bridge. While most of the imperial road's plaster has been broken up, the stones being used during the construction of Caer Gemela and some other buildings, rather intact parts of plaster can still be found at the bridgehead and at several locations along Mineous Trail to the north.

The first structure – named Gemela's Tower after Adric of Gemel – was a motte-and-bailey construction, a stone tower erected atop an artificial earthen hill with adjoining outbuildings surrounded by a ditch and a palisade. Later, a stone wall replaced the palisade enclosure of the courtyard. Adric of Gemel's descendants ruled the slowly growing settlement for the next 150 years. In 628 TR, the house of Gemel died out and King Andasin II granted Gemela to Narol of Delourne, the trusted knight captain of his royal guard, and made him a vassal of the Sheriff of Daen.

During last winter (719 TR), a plague epidemic affecting the lungs killed nine inhabitants of Gemela, a huge loss to the village. The Peonian priest tried to treat the infected victims, but the only potent medicine, Yulpris was unaffordable (it was rare and too expensive). The lord's failure in supporting the Ebasethe has aroused some bad feeling with the serfs, who were already pressed by high rents and dues to support Sir Arino's lifestyle.

Ruling Clan

Sir Arino of Delourne (born 675 TR) inherited the fief in 711 TR. Additionally, he became the Warden of Mimean Forest in 706 TR by the appointment of Sir Crasel of Avandar, Sheriff of Daen.

Sir Arino is obsessed with the idea of making a political career. He tries to sway the favour of high officials, such as the sheriff or the chancellor, through valuable gifts and frequent attendance at the Sheriff's and King's courts. To finance his ambitious plans, he has severely pressed his tenants and inhabitants of Mimea Forest, the latter without having a legal claim, since he didn't report the new settlements to the sheriff, nor pays obligations for this income.

Sir Arino is married to Lady Rugeny of Lenater, whose clan holds Qumavern (Asolena Hundred/Selionshire). They have three legitimate children: two sons (11 and 8) and a daughter (5). Sir Arino has arranged for his eldest son, Larion, to become squire of a knight commander at Dyrisa, and thus a member of the royal household, later this year (720 TR).

Tidezais of Fathiel, Sir Arino's Laranian chaplain, is the unacknowledged bastard son of Sir Arino and Hismien of Fathiel, now the chef of the manor's kitchen. This fact is known only to three persons: Sir Arino, Hismien and her husband, the lord's chamberlain.

Sir Arino supports his widowed sister, Lady Saneodrel of Delourne, and a young niece, Miss Pelenal of Lenater, who acts as Lady Rugeny's lady in waiting.

Waregeld of Delourne is Sir Arino's younger brother. Waregeld has a crippled arm, missing the swear (right) hand, from birth. This impairment made him unacceptable for knighthood or priesthood. Since Arino inherited the manor, he has hidden his brother in the manorhouse or, whenever visitors of high rank stay at Gemela, in a hunting lodge, thinking of him as a "disgrace to the clan". For this reason, Waregeld hates his brother with a passion.

Sir Arino's scheming behaviour has earned him the mistrust of Sir Dirithon Murel, the Warden of Mineous Forest. Sir Dirithon has close familial ties to the Gozyda clans in Mineous and Mimean Forests. Since Sir Arino has pressed several smaller Gozydan families by now, Sir Dirithon fears that this behaviour could stress the relationship between the Gozyda and the House of Kand. To get informed on Sir Arino's plans, Sir Dirithon has enabled a network of informants who pass information to him.

Government

Sir Delourne employs two mercenaries to guard his manor. This force is strengthened by two yeomen and a poorly trained peasant militia.

As the Warden of Mimean Forest, Sir Arino of Delourne commands six Royal Foresters. These are skilled hunters, trappers and long-bowmen, who usually patrol the forest. There are two hunting lodges within Mimean Forest, which are used as bases for their operation. When traveling within the wilderness, Sir Arino is most often escorted by two of the foresters – usually Sabel of Useam (22 – Sir Arino's present mistress) and Walern of Doro (42 – an experienced tracker and hunter).

Throughout Mimean Forest, the foresters are feared for their brutality. They regularly visit all permanent settlements in the forest to “collect taxes” for the Warden. Refusal to meet these demands soon results in beatings or worse.

Economics

Agriculture, Fishing and Forestry

The peasants of Gemela mainly grow barley and sweet hay. Sheep and goats graze on the pastures. Some of the peasants produce a strong, flavoursome goat cheese.

Two households have specialised in fishing.

Due to its isolated location on the densely wooded eastern bank of the Eryn, there is no lack of wood, neither for construction, nor for fires.

The charcoaler consumes large quantities of wood to produce charcoal.

Exported goods: wool, cheese.
Imported goods: (none)

Crafts

Most craftsmen (miller, woodcrafter, metal-smith) produce for local consumption. They sell the majority of their products to the resident peasantry or occasionally to other clientele, such as trappers, hunters, and other wood-dwellers.

They also attend the quarterly markets at Edino, just across the Eryn, to sell their products to the more affluent clientele there.

The resident charcoaler and two more charcoalers licenced by the warden of Mineous Forest produce enough charcoal to supply most of the smithies in Dunzael Hundred.

The hideworker obtains hides and pelts from trappers and other wood-dwellers, tans them and sells most of them at the Edino Fair. He also produces large amounts of tanbark which is sold to mercantylers at Edino who pass the product to hideworkers in Dyrisa and Aleath.

Exported goods: hides, pelts, tan, charcoal.
Imported goods: salt, raw metals.

Trade

Since no major trail leads to Gemela, nor does it have a port, there is very little trade. The proximity of Edino and its market are sufficient to support the needs of Gemela.

Taxes

MERCHET: 12,00%
HERIOT: The best animal of the deceased

The taxes, dues, rents and fees have been very high at Gemela since Sir Arino inherited the fief. He hopes to use the revenue from these to finance his ambitious plans for his political career.

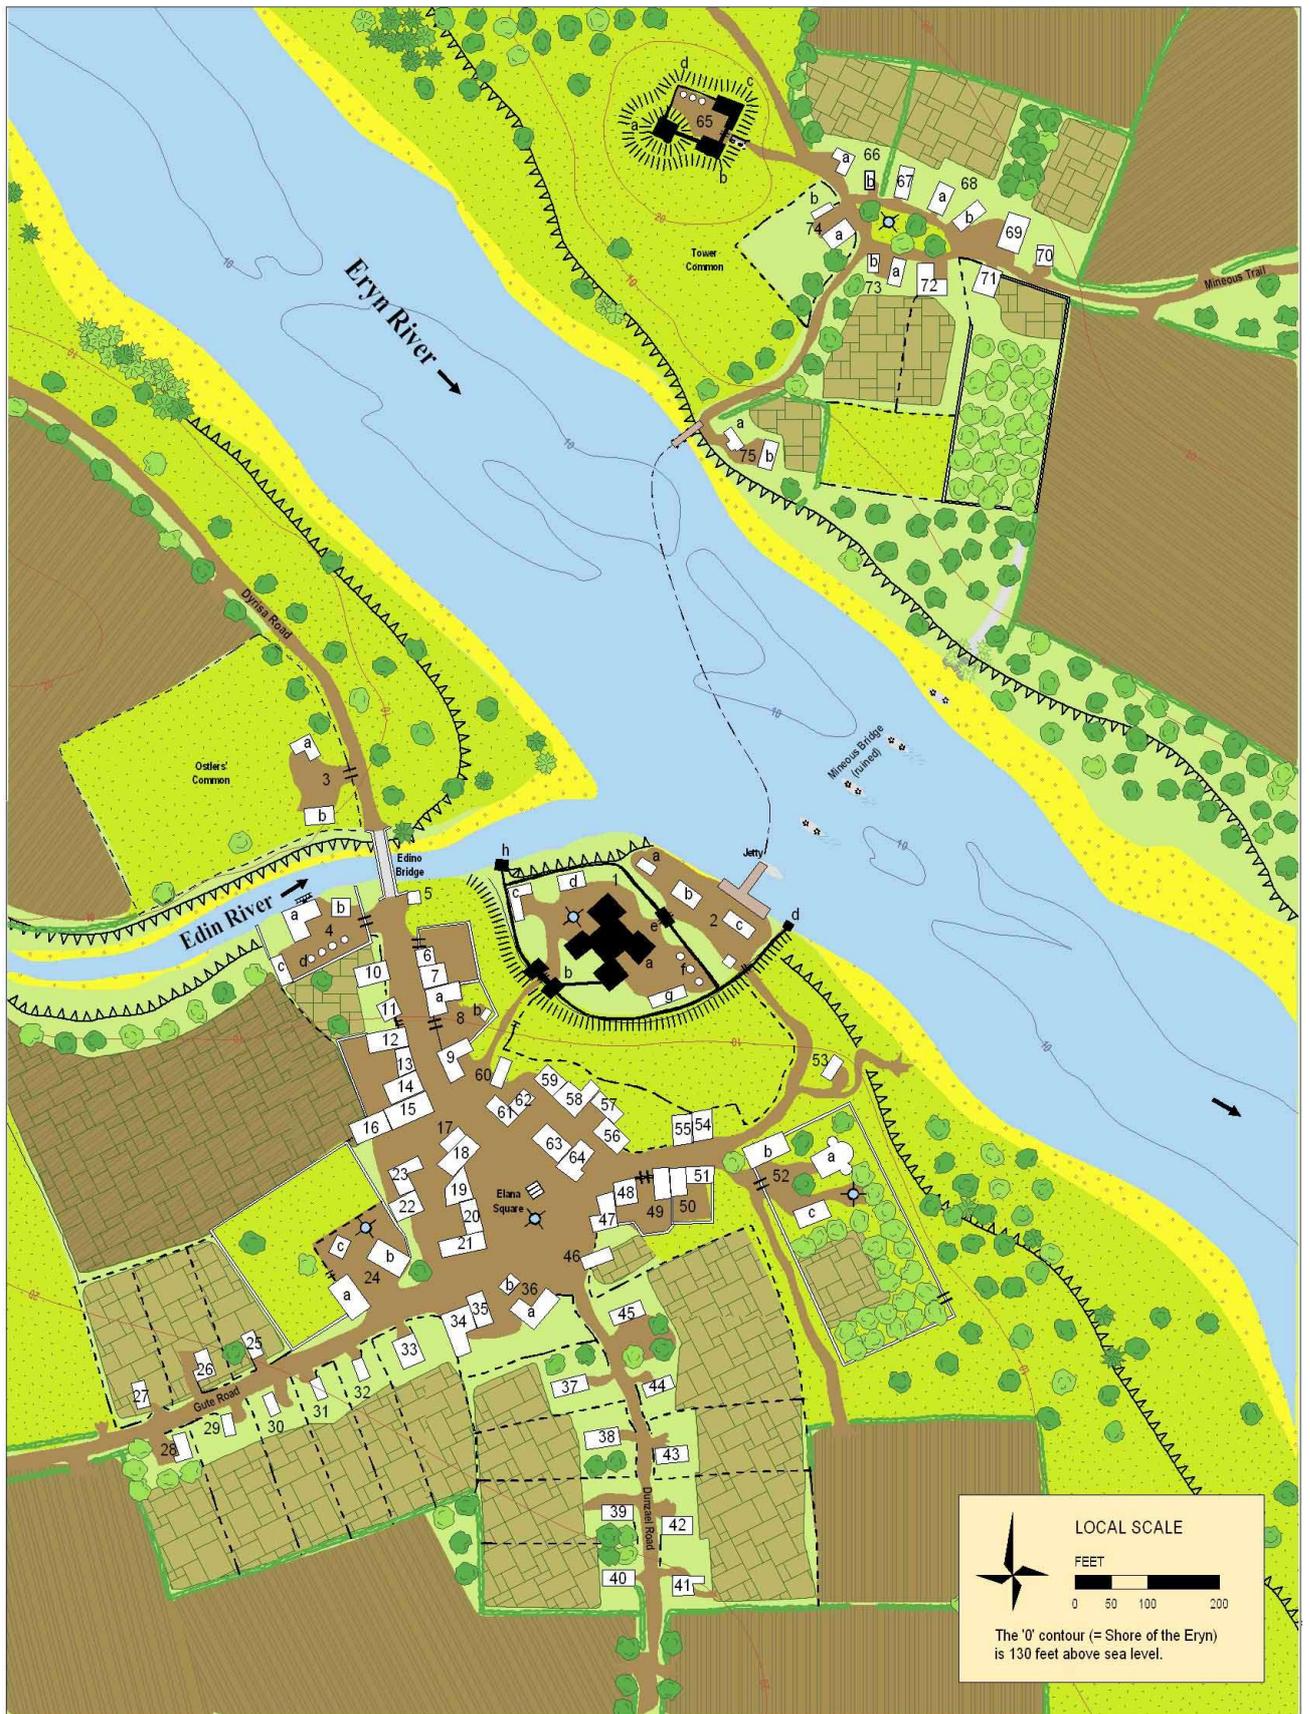

Religion

As usual in Kanday, the worship of Morgath, Naveh and Agrik is proscribed. The worship of Ilvir and Sarajin is discouraged and the churches of Halea and Save-K'nor are tolerated. The churches of Larani and Peoni are supported and tax exempt.

There is a Shrine of Peoni in the village [see Map Key 85] and a Laranian Chapel in the manorhouse.

EDINO & GEMELA

COMMON MAP

Map Key (Gemela only)

(FOR INFORMATION ON KEY NUMBERS 1 TO 64, SEE "EDINO"):

65 GEMELA MANOR
The manorhouse is described in detail on the following pages. The complex consists of:

- [A] GEMELA'S TOWER
The residence of Sir Arino of Delourne.
- [B] KITCHEN
- [C] STABLES AND BARN
(bonded ostler Balegad of Jawold)
- [D] GRANARIES

66 HALF-VILLEIN – EVEHEEL OF DOLAIDIN
Eveheel (31) is a skilled fruit grower and tends for the lord's orchards. His wife died from an epidemic lung disease during last winter. Now, Eveheel has to take care of his daughter (6) and two young sons (3 and 1) on his own.

67 VILLEIN – TUSNOESS OF EUMIL
Tusnoess' (27) husband, Kidas of Edomil, a crude drinker, died in an accident during the harsh winter of 716 TR, when he slipped on the frozen Eryn and broke his neck. Rumors say that Tusnoess may have helped it along. Her selions seem to bear more fruits than others. Tusnoess' son (10) and daughter (4) are regularly harassed by the village's children. In fact, she's just a competent farmer and glad about – but not guilty of – her husband's fate. Tusnoess gets support from her father [88] and brother [83] and has petitioned Sir Arino to stop the slandering and gossip, but the lord has so far ignored her case.

68 WOODCRAFTER – TIDEZAIS FATHIEL
Size: 3 Quality: 4 Prices: high
Tidezais' (32) business has been supported by his oldest niece (21) for some time. She has, however, just finished her apprenticeship and will leave his business this year. Tidezais therefore needs to find a new apprentice. His two daughters (9 and 1) and his twin-boys (3) mean lots of trouble for their overburdened mother (25).

69 FARMER – ILHER OF KAEHTE
Ilher (33) farms 50 acres of land, the largest farm within the fief, with the assistance of a farm hand. He has three sons (12, 10 and 7) and a daughter (8). His wife and a newborn daughter died this past winter during the epidemic.

70 VILLEIN – RYBEAIN OF REVTEL
Rybeain (59) is a competent farmer. He and his wife (54) are supported by the family of his oldest son (36) – his daughter-in-law (33) and four granddaughters (12, 9, 7 and 4). Since Rybeain's second son Rieaer (26) ran away in 716 TR, Rybeain's family is frequently harassed by Sir Arino and his men. Rieaer managed to escape to Iben's Lode Mine within Mineous Forest. He was declared free after having worked in the mines for about a year, married and founded a family. Last spring, Sir Arino found out about Rieaer's whereabouts. He travelled to the mine and demanded the surrender of "his property". The Miners' Guild promptly rejected his demand and Sir Arino furiously left the mine. Last winter, Rieaer and his brother-in-law disappeared traceless. Their families suspect Sir Arino having hired bandits to abduct their husbands and making an example of them.

71 YEOMAN (MF) – DERMIER OF NIRENDEL
Dermier (41) owes 80 days of service to Sir Arino Delourne. His son Hebrén (19) seems becoming a promising farmer and fighter – he is Dermier's pride and joy. His oldest daughter Warun has just married the oldest son of Jankez of Lagon, one of the foresters of Mineous Forest [see LAGON'S HIDE LODGE in the "MINEOUS FOREST" article]. Dermier and his wife (38) now only have to care for their younger daughters (11 and 8). Dernier occasionally passes information on Sir Arino to his son-in-law, who forwards it to Sir Dirithon of Murel.

72 VILLEIN/REEVE – AMIK OF EDMIL
Amik (39) is a heavily-stressed man. Besides his duty as the village's reeve, he is the head of Clan Edomil and has to support his younger brother (32) and three little boys, his own son (4) and his two nephews (1 and 3). His wife, a daughter and his brother's wife died during the epidemic last winter. As does his cousin Nimanna, he believes that Tusnoess killed her husband, who was also his cousin, and as such has refused to support Tusnoess or her children. Since the plague last winter he openly supports Nimanna's views.

73 METALSMITH – EVEBEER OF MODARIL

Size: 3 Quality: 4 Prices: high

Evebeer (43) is married and he and his wife (36) have two daughters (13 and 2). Since the manor's weaponcrafter left soon after Sir Arino took over the fief, Evebeer had been repeatedly called upon by Sir Arino to repair of weapons and armor. At first, Sir Arino requested Evebeer's services only occasionally, but this has become more regular – and recently, the lord asked him for a new broadsword. Since this would be a severe breach of the weaponcrafters' privilege, Evebeer is trapped between rejecting his lord's request and being in danger of trouble with the Mangai. Evebeer has a wonderful voice and is an excellent singer. He often is often asked to take part in the Laranian masses in the lord's chapel.

74 VILLEIN – ENDEZON OF ERUTE

Endezon (37) and his wife (36) are childless, but support a widowed niece (21) and her son (3).

75 HIDEWORKER – MAVEL OF CALENIR

Size: 1 Quality: 4 Prices: average

Mavel (36) supports two young nephews (11 and 6). He primarily tans pelts and sells them at the Edino Fair to clothiers and mercantylers (see "EDINO"). Mavel obtains pelts from Sir Arino's foresters. He also passes hints about poachers to the foresters to earn some favours or extra money. Those who sell him illegally obtained pelts will soon make the acquaintance of the brutal foresters.

Offmap

Besides the settlement at the former bridgehead, two further small hamlets belong to Gemela manor.

Kaehte Hamlet

Kaehte Hamlet emerged from the farm of an imperial Veteran, Rybeain Kaehte. It is located en route to Ibonost on the southern part of the planned imperial road, quarter a mile along Mineous Trail to the southeast. The road was planned to circumvent the Lanisor elevations southerly through its foothills until meeting the Mina stream and then upstream the Mina valley between the Lanisor and Valdru ranges to the north to meet the Dyrisa-Ibonost-Road. Today, Kaehte is the fief's center of agriculture and social life.

76 MILLER – KALIFUS OF AMLAIN

Size: 3 Quality: 2 Prices: average

Kalifus obtained the franchise six years ago, in 714 TR, when his predecessor died childless. Kalifus (47), his son (24) and an apprentice (18) operate an ox-powered mill. Kalifas would like to construct a water powered mill, but can't yet afford it alone – and since Sir Arino has no interest spending his funds on such long-term based projects, he has problems in finding a financier.

77 HALF-VILLEIN – INATTE OF EUMIL

Inatte (32), his wife (28) and son (10) are known as friendly and unobtrusive people. He has so far managed to keep his own family out of the conflict between clans the Eumil and Edomil clans.

78 CHARCOALER/WOODWARD – ERASDAN OF LAMOREL

Size: 3 Quality: 3 Prices: low

Erasdan (34), his wife (28 and a charcoaler journeyman), and an apprentice (a 15 year old lad) produce charcoal and tar in the woods east of Gemela. For this purpose, they maintain a log cabin with a wood storage, a charcoal kiln and a tar oven in the woods, one Hârníc league to the north east. From the Warden of Mineous Forest, Sir Dirithon Murel, Erasdan has obtained a license to cut wood in Mineous Forest. Sir Dirithon is known as a generous patron of the Charcoalers' Guild, and the license fee is very low, so Erasdan can cut wood for nearly free and produce charcoal and tar very cheaply, thus making considerable profit by selling the charcoal to smiths and mercantylers on the Edino markets. Additionally, Erasdan is Sir Arino's woodward and responsible for the assart. Unbeknown, Erasdan and his wife act as informants for Sir Dirithon.

79 COTTAR – DIEHFAM OF EUMIL
Diehfam's (30) wife died in birth of his youngest son last year. When he works the land of Sir Arino, his uncle Ryif takes care of his sons (8, 0) and daughter (3). His attempts to mediate between his uncle and the reeve have failed.

80 YEOMAN (LB) – UVINFUS OF KAEHTE
Uvinfus (49) is a descendent of the veteran, who founded the hamlet as an imperial colonus. He is an excellent archer and owes 60 day of service to his lord. His land is worked by his sons (26, 21 and 12) and a farmhand. His oldest son is married (22) and has a son (2) and a daughter (5).

81 VILLEIN/HERDER – INMIRT OF SANOAN
Inmiri (26) has a wife (26), a daughter (8) and a son (2). He is a very athletic, attractive and seductive man. Inmiri spends much of his time alone on the pastures to keep watch over his lord's herds. Rumors that speak of Inmirt being the father of the beadle's son [see 94] have concerned his wife. She does not know whom to believe and would like to observe her husband – but with two children and working most of the land, she lacks the time to visit the far-off pastures.

82 COTTAR/FISHER – EVEMAOL OF SANOAN
Evemaol (40) and his family – wife (37), sons (19, 7, 4) and daughters (15, 11) – are devout Peonians. For a fare, Evemaol or his oldest son Haged occasionally ferry residents and travellers across the Eryn to Edino, or as far as to Murelno or Dyrisa. Besides his cottage at Kaehte, Evemaol owns a hut on the northern bank of the Eryn, where he stores his boat and fishing equipment.

83 HALF-VILLEIN – RYVAIN OF EUMIL
Ryvain (29) is a brother of Tusnoess and known as a thug. He has repeatedly threatened to beat up anyone who calls his sister a murderer or witch. Ryvain was widowed in 718 TR and has two surviving sons (9 and 5) and a daughter (3).

84 HALF-VILLEIN – TIEHARD OF EDMIL
Tiehard (37) lives with his sons (17 and 13). He has tried to calm his cousin Nimanna, but failed thus far.

85 SHRINE OF PEONI – EBASETHE HISMIEH OF KALENDIR
Hismien (51) has long been a pious servant of Peoni and a loyal follower of the local lord. But now she is frustrated by the grim harvest of last winter's pneumonic plague and Sir Arino's failure to support his serfs. She tried to treat the infected people, but could not afford to buy Yulpris to heal them. Sir Arino ignored her pleas for support and though the Peonian temple at Edino sent most of their potent herbs, they were not enough. Hismien has lost her trust in Clan Delourne's leadership. She has repeatedly reminded the peasantry of the nobles' obligations toward their serfs in her sermons. Sir Arino has not taken notice of this veiled threat so far. Hismien is supported by a niece (25), who has a son (10) and tiny daughter (4).

86 HALF-VILLEIN – ESANA OF EDMIL
Esana (28) supports her cousin Nimanna by spreading gossip about Tusnoess and Clan Eumil. She has two sons (12 and 6) and two daughters (9 and 4) who lost their father this winter.

87 VILLEIN – DIUON OF ERUTE
Diuon's (41) family consists of his wife (38) and five sons (19, 15, 12, 8 and 5). Diuon is the most competent farmer within the village. He dislikes the reeve due to his lack of competence.

88 HALF-VILLEIN/FISHER – RYIF OF EUMIL
Ryif is a pugnacious man of 54 and head of Clan Eumil. He lives with his oldest son (31), his daughter-in-law (26) and granddaughters (6 and 2). Ryif uses nets and fish traps to along the Eryn and in several small ponds and lakes around the manor.

Ryif never liked his son-in-law, Kidas of Edomil, calling him a useless drunkard. When Kidas died in 716 TR, Clan Edomil refused to take care of his daughter Tasnoess and her children [see 67]. This has resulted in enmity between Clans Eumil and Edomil. Ever since Nimanna of Edomil started calling Tusnoess a witch, he has defended his daughter against these false accusations and his emotions have lately caused him to become more aggressive.

89 HALF-VILLEIN – MEDOT OF DOLAIDIN
Medot (47) lives with his wife (45), his youngest, unmarried brother (38), three of his four sons (24, 21, 19 and 16) and the family of his oldest son – as well as his son's wife (22) and a daughter (3). Medot's youngest son Lasweg (16) is Sir Arino's kennel-boy and lives at one of the hunting lodges.

Linmite Hamlet

Linmite is a hamlet of only six households, located a quarter of a league to the northwest, at the ending of the road leaving the local map to the north west.

90 FARMER – KHEEAARD OF CALENIR
Kheeaard (34) is a clever man and a passionate poacher. He regularly stride through the woods to hunt wild poultry, rabbits and deer. The lord has recognised that someone hunts in his woods, but the foresters have repeatedly failed to track down the poacher – perhaps because one of Sir Arino's foresters, Galed of Calenir, is Kheeaard's brother. Kheeaard has a wife (32) and two sons (11 and 8). Seven years ago, he was attacked by a boar while roaming the woods. He killed the wild boar, but was seriously wounded. This adventure has left characteristic scars on his left thigh.

91 VILLEIN – RIEAER OF REVTEL
Rieaer is the head of Clan Reviel. He used to dislike the reeve and his kin. Since the plague killed his wife and he now has to care for his four sons (12, 8, 5 and 2) alone, things have become difficult for him.

92 HALF-VILLEIN – NIMANNA OF EDMIL
Nimanna (28) has lost her husband this winter due to the pneumonic plague. She is now to face serious problems with feeding her two sons (9 and 4) and a daughter (2). Nimanna has always hated her sister-in-law, Tusnoess of Eumil. She has spread rumors of Tusnoess having killed her brother for almost three years. The death of her husband has further outraged this young and desperate woman. Now, she also accuses Tusnoess of having started the pneumonic plague by means of witchcraft. As the enmity of Nimanna towards Tusnoess is well known to most villagers and the clerics, these new accusations have had few effect. Despite of this, it has fueled the conflict between clans Edomil and Eumil.

93 VILLEIN – DIRON OF REVTEL
Diron (25) and his wife (19) have a son (4) and a daughter (1).

94 COTTAR/BEADLE – SATIMA OF DOLAIDIN
Satima (26) is a self assured, strong-willed and even physically powerful woman. Normally, she has few problems with the villagers, but now, she is faced with a more serious problem: the gossip about Tusnoess of Eumil has stirred up the village. Though she has asked Sir Arino for his decision in this question, she has yet to get a response. Satima hesitates to report Ebasethe Hismien's sermons [see 85] to the lord. The sermons could be interpreted as an indirect call to rebellion by Sir Delourne, his chaplain or the beadle. Saiima has an illegitimate son of three years of age. Gossip reports Inmirt of Sanoan of being the father [see 81].

95 HALF-VILLEIN – LINMITA OF ERUTE
Linmita's (46) oldest son, Jadost (27), is Sir Arino's falconer and lives at one of the hunting lodges in Mimean Forest. She has two daughters (24 and 11) and two other sons (9 and 4).

Gemela Manor
Ground Floor

Gemela Manor

Ground Floor

1 CELLAR. This room is used as a storage area. The well in the south-west corner is the main water supply for the manor house.

2 ARMOURY. The iron gate is secured with a complex lock (rating: 8). The armoury holds various weapons (spears, bows, arrows) and a locked chest (lock complexity: 8). The locked chest contains Sir Delourne's treasure (silver and jewels, together a value of 43 pounds), as well as the lord's most important documents. Sir Arino wears a key to the armoury together with the only key to the treasure chest on a necklace around his neck. The second key to the armoury is kept by the chamberlain, Erasdan of Kaechte.

3 HOLDING CELL. Occasionally, serfs or offenders against the forest law are kept here for several days. The lock is of moderate complexity (5).

4 PASSAGEWAY. The only access to Gemela's Tower is by way of this passage from the kitchen. The way is shielded by two walls. There are three flights of three steps each, to ease the ascending onto the motte. Two torches light the way.

5 KITCHEN. This is the realm of the manor's chef, Hismien of Fathiel (38), the chamberlain's wife. She controls the preparation of all dishes served to the nobles. Hismien is an excellent cook and her menus have impressed more than one of Sir Arino's important guests. The alewife, Peonoel of Sanoan (56), brews acceptable ales, but the lord prefers wine.

The steady use of the large hearth and an oven makes the kitchen the only permanently heated room in the manor house and popular with most servants, who sleep on straw mattresses on the floor. Water from the well in Gemela's Tower is preferred to water from the cistern in the south east corner for cooking and brewing. The door to the kitchen can be barred with a massive wooden beam. A trap door in the ceiling is unused since the room above [see second floor, room 4] was changed into a living room.

6 SMITHY. The last weaponsmith quit his contract in 713 "for personal reasons". As Sir Arino's expenses have grown steadily since then, he has still not replaced him. The bunk beds in the corner are now used for fo-resters during their visits to the manor.

7 STABLE. There are seven boxes, six of them in use. The horses are looked after by a bonded ostler and his apprentice, who live on the second floor.

8 GRANARIES. Three granaries hold corn for the garrison and the village. The granaries are accessed by trap doors on their roofs.

Second Floor

1 GEMELA HALL. The Great Hall is the place of the lord's hall moots and occasional trials of offenders against forest law (most offenders are punished on the spot). A fireplace heats the hall in winter and during feasts. The hall has no gallery, so ladies are seated on the same floor.

2 CORRIDOR. The access to Gemela's Tower is by two massive doors, that can be barred with wooden beams. A murder hole in the ceiling may give an unwelcome surprise to intruders who make it past the first door.

3 PASSAGEWAY. (See key number 4 on the ground floor.)

4 CHAMBERLAIN AND CHEF. The manor's chamberlain, Erasdan of Kaehte (35), lives here with his wife, the chef Hismien of Fathiel (38). Years ago, Hismiel was raped by Sir Arino and became pregnant. Her only son, Tidezais of Fathiel (21), is still unacknowledged by Sir Arino, but Sir Arino sponsored his study at Chyndaen Abbey and made Hismiel his chief cook. Later, Hismiel married Erasdan. Since this room was changed into a living room years before, there is no use for the trap door to the kitchen [ground floor, room 5] in the floor nowadays.

5 LADY SANEDROEL OF DELOURNE. Sir Arino's sister, lives in this room. The warmth from the kitchen beneath makes this chamber more comfortable than most of the other rooms. Lady Sanedroel (49) is widowed. She was married to Sir Diron of Lenater, a Melana (Knight of the Order of the Chequered Shield). She has a son, Sir Uvand of Lenater (22) and a daughter, Pelenal of Lenater (16). Uvand has respected the wish of his father and entered the Chequered Shield last year. Pelenal is unmarried and lives with her mother.

6 CORRIDOR. This corridor is part of the manor's defenses. Several arrow slits can be used to aim at attackers across the dry ditch.

7 GATEHOUSE. The only access to the second floor of the kitchen building runs above the gate and possesses a number of arrow slits.

8 GUARDROOM. The bunk beds in this room are used by the lord's men-at-arms, Werdel of Samek (34) and Nasred of Nirendel (37) and the foresters. The winch operates the drawbridge across the dry ditch on the ground floor. The drawbridge is usually lowered even at night. Either Werdel or Nasred is on guard; by day at the drawbridge, and by night within the gatehouse.

9 CORRIDOR.

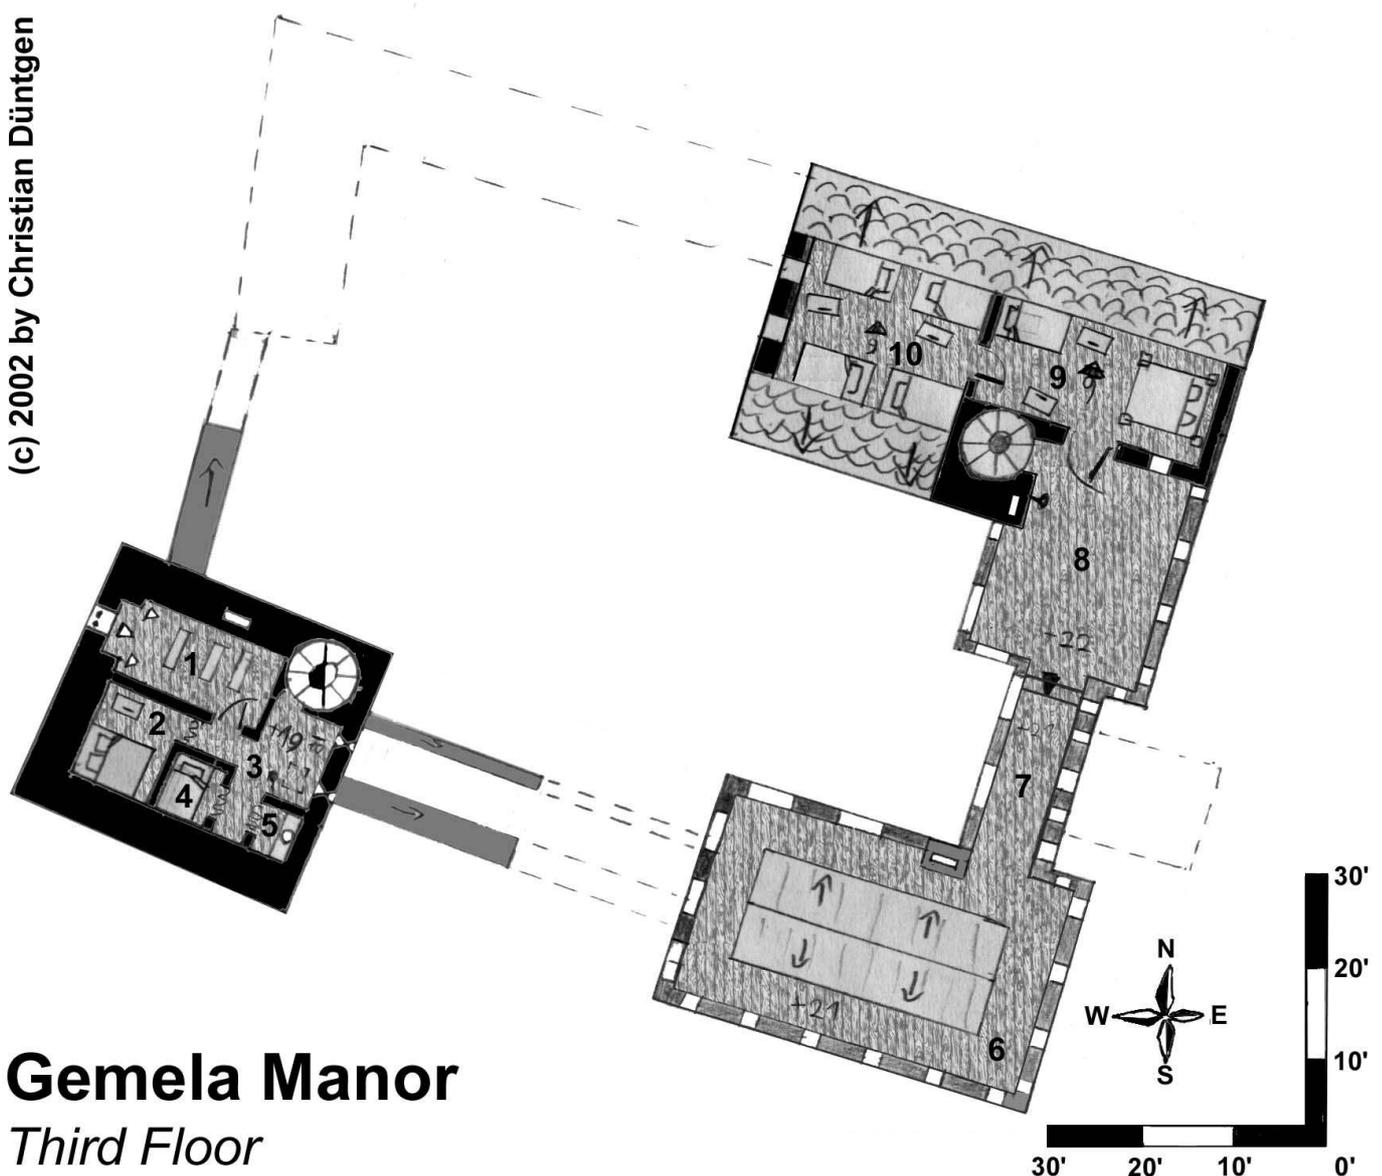

10 LAVATORY.

11 CLOTHIER. Bonded master clothier Rybeain of Selvon (m49) has specialized in men's fashion. He makes two sets of clothing for Sir Arino, Lady Rugeny and one for each of their children per year. Rybeain is addicted to Fanosel, a narcotic drug. He regularly accompanies Sir Arino on his visits of the Royal Court at Dyrisa, to visit the Halean Temple and meet a friend who deals in the drug.

12 OSTLER. The lord's stable is operated by bonded master ostler Balegad of Jawold (28). He has recently married Kaleia of Huleben, the daughter of his former master against her clan's will. Kaleia's father deemed Balegad unable to support a family and interdicted any contact between the two lovers. Though, after accepting the job at Gemela, Balegad returned and secretly arranged a meeting with Kaleia, convincing the young woman to marry and flee with him. Balegad's apprentice sleeps in the hayloft.

13 HAYLOFT. A small amount of straw, hay and fodder for the lord's horses is stored here. The ostler's apprentice, Ridard (m14) sleeps in the hay. The door on the west wall gives access to the wall walk.

14 WALL WALK. The battlements raise up to 15' above the ground. The wooden wall walk traverses only half of the wall.

Third Floor

1 LARANIAN CHAPEL. The chaplain holds a daily mass in the morning. The chapel is the only windowed room on this floor. The statue to the right shows Larani as the "Lady of Flowing Red" with Avarkiel and Oathbinder. The statue in the middle shows the goddess as the "Lady of Paladins". The third statue, to the left, shows Larani's Constable Mendiz, as a winged red lion. All statues are made of wood, and painted in bright colors. The altar and the benches are made of simple wood.

2 GUEST ROOM. Noble guests are usually quartered in this room.

3 CORRIDOR.

4 CHAPLAIN. Matakea Tidezais of Fathiel (21) was sent to Gemela on behalf of the Obasaran of Chyndaen Abbey. He is a unacknowledged illegitimate son of Sir Arino. His mother Hismien of Fathiel, the lord's chef, is very proud of her son, whose study was sponsored by Sir Arino. Besides the masses, Tidezais teaches the lord's children and acts as the lord's chancellor.

5 LAVATORY.

6 BATTLE PLATFORM. The roof of the kitchen building is fully surrounded by battlements and can be used to counter attacking enemies.

7 BATTLE PLATFORM (SEE 6).

8 BATTLE PLATFORM (SEE 6).

9 Waregeld of Delourne. Waregeld (42), is Sir Arino's younger brother. His sword arm has been crippled since birth. This impairment precluded any possibility of his becoming a knight or Laranian priest, as his attempts to take on a novitiate at Chyndaen Abbey were rejected by the Serolan due to the missing arm. Since Arino inherited the manor, he has hidden Waregeld, considering him to be a "disgrace of the clan". For this reason, Waregeld hates his brother with a passion. He covertly observes Arino's actions and collects information on his brother's plans, sexual affairs and misdemeanours. He would be happy to share his knowledge with anyone who opposes Arino's goals. Waregeld spends a considerable part of his time with the chaplain and his nephews and niece, slowly turning them against their father.

10 CHILDREN'S ROOM. The lord's legitimate offspring sleeps in this chamber: Larion of Delourne (m11) Hedolm of Delourne (m8), Dolithea of Delourne (f5). The nursemaid Aldain of Dolaidin (31) spends most of the day with both of her younger charges. The oldest boy acts as Lady Sanedroel's page and will leave the household this year to become a squire at the royal court at Dyrisa. Larion is very proud of this accomplishment, as he sees it.

2 LORD ARINO OF DELOURNE'S ROOM. When in Gemela, Sir Arino stays here and is usually on his own. The chest contains some documents and a part of the lord's wardrobe.

3 LADY RUGENY OF LENATER. Lady Rugeny (37) has never loved her husband and vice versa. It was a political marriage as are most others within the nobility. Lady Rugeny is aware of Sir Arino's escapades with various women, but as Arino usually visits his mistresses outside the keep, this does not overly trouble the Lady of the house. Lady Rugeny regularly accompanies her husband on visits to the Sheriff's or the King's court.

4 SERVANTS' ROOM. Sir Arino's squire, Uldon of Garawe and Lady Rugeny's maid, Nimanna of Kedel share this room.

Nimanna (35) has been Lady Rugeny's maid for 20 years. She came to Gemela after the marriage of her lady to Sir Arino.

Uldon (15) is the second son of Jasmaen of Garawe, a knight-bachelor and companion of Sir Arino. Uldon is ashamed of sharing the room with Nimanna, but having asked his master, Sir Arino answered that the presence of a woman would tell him courtly manners the best way.

The Foresters

SABEL OF USEAM is a fervid young brunette of 22 and Sir Arino's present mistress. She is a skilled hunter with the javelin and the short-bow, and has Gozydan origins. Her ruthlessness and ambitions for power make her unpopular with almost everyone, but have earned her the favours of Sir Arino. She usually stays with Sir Arino.

WALERN OF DORO is a quit, experienced tracker and hunter of 42 years and is usually the second forester staying with Sir Arino. He strongly dislikes Sabel and Galed, but is wise enough to conceal his emotions.

WERYCK OF SAMEK is the third born son of a knight in Perishire. He became a mercenary and joined the Order of the Chequered Shield for almost 10 years. During an errand to Ibonost, he came to the attention of Sir Arino, who offered him the office of a forester. Weryk accepted and quit his service with the fighting order. Today he is 45 years old, and though he is not a skilled huntsman, he is an excellent fighter and inquisitor. He often leads the patrols through the forest. He has few problems with Galed's actions, as long as he finds the victims guilty. On the other side, as a former soldier he does not tolerate Galed's lack of self control.

GALED OF CALENIR is the 33 year old son of a yeoman. His strength and dexterity earned him the respect of the local lord who trained and employed him as a mercenary. After a short time, Galed's was discharged due to his violent temper, and he travelled to Dyrisa, where he backed Sir Arino during a rough brawl in a tavern. Sir Arino soon made him one of his foresters. Galed is known for the brutal treatment of any offenders of forest law. Usually he hangs poachers himself, but not without prior severe beating.

JANKEZ OF ILKREZ is a halfblooded Gozyda of 44 years. He lives in Mimealen Lodge, a hunting lodge. Being the oldest son of his clan's chieftain, he once saved Janna Dugus, the young spouse of a Thardic trapper who was found within the clan's territory and was ritually sacrificed by his clan from a similar fate. Janna stayed with Jankez for several years, giving birth to a son. Sir Arino discovered the couple and the woman charmed him to allow them to live at one of his hunting lodges. Sir Arino finally made Jankez a forester when he recognized his skills. He regularly sent useful items, food and some silver to Jankez, but kept most of the forester's wage (96d per month). When the boy was 12, Janna died from traumatic fever after receiving severe wounds defending her son against a pack of wolfs in a hard winter, while Jankez was hunting. Jankez has contacts with the Gozyda, but tries to evade his relatives.

LEBOL OF ILKREZ is Jankez' 21 year old son. He usually stays with his father. When he found out, that Sir Arino keeps most of the wage for him and his father, he became enraged, but his father is not interested in silver and has ordered his son to keep silent.

LASWEG OF DOLAIDIN is Sir Arino's vivid kennelboy. He is 16 years old, being the youngest son of Medot of Dolaidin [89]. He lives with Jadost the falconer at Mimea Lodge, Sir Arino's favourite hunting lodge in Mimean Forest.

JADOST OF ERUTE is a bad-tempered brutish young man of 27 years and Sir Arino's Falconer. He resides and maintains Mimea Lodge, at the westernmost rim of Mimea forest, near to the border to Teba hundred, where he trains the warden's three falcons. He has excellent sense of hearing and dislikes any noise, as the kennelboy's babbling or the barking of the hounds. For the latter, disturbing Jadost's peace easily result in severe beatings.
